UserRelationshipManager.java

Responsabilities

- Handle the relationship between users
- Allows the user to follow another, checks if the user is following already
- Read the followers the user has

Methods

- followUser(String follower, String followed)
- isAlreadyFollowing(String follower, String followed)
- getFollowers(String username)
- getFollowing(String username)

Functionalities

It is visible that the class is responsible for handling the communication between the users.

The class allthough is not well used through other parts of the Software.

A good implementation would be to see where is required to check for userRelationship and implement the methods accorddingly.

As a result a lot of code repetition will be solved and it will be easier for maintainence.
